CRUELTY-FREE POLICY DECLARATION

Lospalos Coconut Oil pledges to be cruelty free. We believe that animals should not suffer or die in the making and production of any product, and specifically, our coconut oil. We therefore avoid doing business with companies that cause animals to suffer for their products or supporting corporations that abuse animals. Animal welfare is a personal priority for both company directors, who have worked and volunteered for The International Anti-Poaching Foundation (IAPF) in Zimbabwe and continue to donate regularly to animal conservation.

We confirm that:

1. We do not use animals to collect the coconuts from the treetops
2. We do not purchase coconuts from anyone who treats their animals cruelly
3. The company has not conducted or commissioned animal testing in the last five years
4. We do not pay anyone to test on our behalf
5. We do not sell to any countries where animal testing is required by law
6. The product Lospalos Coconut Oil is palm oil free and palm derivatives free
7. No animals are harmed in our production of virgin coconut oil
8. We advocate for good welfare in animals globally for all cultures and traditions
